

The present invention provides wraps that comprise a first thermal portion that contains a thermal agent, a second thermal portion that also contains a thermal agent, and an elastic portion connecting the first thermal portion to the second thermal portion.